GLASSPEX INDIA 2013

Exhibitors can register for the successful glass trade fair in Mumbai as of now

GLASSPEX INDIA – International Exhibition for Glass – Production Processing Products – will already be held for the third time now, from 20 to 22 March 2013 at the Bombay Convention & Exhibition Centre, Hall V in Mumbai. Companies across the entire glass industry can register as of now.

The glass trade exhibition has already become a fixture in the international trade fair arena. At the previous event in 2011 176 exhibitors from 19 nations presented the latest products and technologies in glass production, finishing and applications to over 4,000 international trade visitors.

The participating exhibitors – including such renowned companies as Bottero, DSF Refractories, Emhart Glass, Grenzebach, Hindustan National Glass, Saint-Gobain SEFPRO, Shamvik Glasstech, Bassra Machine Tools, Den Breven, CUMI, IAG, Gujarat Borosil, K-bond, Techno Trade Links and Zippe Industrieanlagen – unanimously praised the excellent organisation of the event care of Messe Düsseldorf India and the high calibre of visitors that made GLASSPEX INDIA an outstanding communication platform for exchange among experts.

The forthcoming event will also follow on from this success because India is among the world's fastest growing markets and a highly attractive economic region especially for the glass industry. Rising population figures on the subcontinent, a higher standard of living and the associated demand for consumer goods have generated rising demand in the construction sector, the automotive industry as well as in the packaging, electrical and pharmaceutical industries – areas where glass plays a prominent role as a raw material.

At GLASSPEX INDIA exhibitors can obtain selected exposure to the Indian market and make new business contacts – banking on Messe Düsseldorf (as the organiser of the world's most important glass trade fair glasstec). The AIGMF (All India Glass Manufacturers' Federation) and VDMA e.V. (Association of German Machinery and Plant Manufacturers) provide their support as strong cooperation partners.

Held in parallel with GLASSPEX INDIA in 2013 will be the 10th International Glass Technology Conference of the AIGMF entitled "Managing Sustainable Growth". The renowned conference provides an ideal complement for the content of the trade fair thereby making it even more attractive to visitors.

The 3rd Glass Performance Days India (GPD), where current trends on the Indian glass market as well as glass architecture and solar technology are discussed, round off the wide range of side events for GLASSPEX INDIA.
