

VALVE WORLD EXPO 2022 in Düsseldorf

Industrial valves sector looks forward to its leading trade fair in Düsseldorf in November 2022

A mood of optimism within the industry: after a four-year break, companies in the industrial valves sector are once again longing for real encounters, a lively exchange of information and technological innovations to touch at the exhibition stands.

Industrial valves and fittings play an indispensable role in almost all industries, regulating flow rates, separating different media and thus preventing liquid and gas spills. The exhibitors at VALVE WORLD EXPO live from 29 November to 1 December 2022 in Halls 1 and 3 of Düsseldorf Fairgrounds will show just how innovative the industry is.

The response from the industry is correspondingly great. Key players such as MRC Global, KITZ, Emerson, Samson, AUMA, Omal/Actuatech, Zwick Armaturen, Pekos Valves, Böhmer, Ari Armaturen, Effebi, Hoerbiger, Galperti, Neles/metso, Neway and Crane are firmly behind the leading trade fair. Medium-sized companies are also clearly showing their colours in Düsseldorf. An overview of the registration status to date will be published at www.valveworldexpo.com at the end of February. Interested companies can still register to take part in the fair.

The accompanying Valve World Conference in Hall 1 and the Valve World Expo Forum in Hall 3 will ensure a balanced transfer of know-how between theory and practice. The Valve World Conference will celebrate its premiere in the new Exhibition Hall 1, which is one of the world's trendsetters in the field of congresses and events in terms of architecture and technology.

The organisation of the conference is again in the professional hands of KCI. In addition, there will be the Valve World Expo Forum with a free lecture programme on the first day of the fair. Here, Vulkan-Verlag is organising a one-day, German-language programme.

The ecoMetals campaign for VALVE WORLD EXPO 2022 shows that topics such as sustainability, energy efficiency and resource conservation play a central role, especially in energy-intensive industries.

Guided tours (ecoMetals-trails) to the stands of exhibitors who consciously produce sustainably are part of the daily trade fair programme. The starting point is a marked meeting point in the new South Entrance Area. Interested exhibitors can still register directly at the project department at exhibitor@valveworldexpo.de.

Further information about VALVE WORLD EXPO, its Conference, the Forum and the ecoMetals campaign can be found on the internet portal at www.valveworldexpo.com.
